

WMES Morning Announcements

Tuesday, May 4, 2021

Happy "Star Wars Day"

Please prepare for O Canada

Click on picture for O Canada to play...

“We would like to begin by acknowledging that we are in Mi’kma’ki (MEEG-MA-GEE), the traditional ancestral territory of the Mi’kmaq people”.

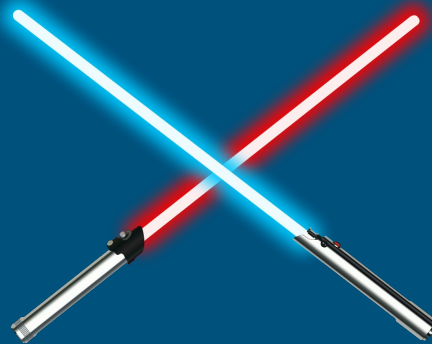

Why do we acknowledge that we are in Mi'kmaq Territory each day?

- The Mi'kmaq people were the first people to have lived in Nova Scotia.
- They have lived here for a very long time.
- This land in the Mi'kmaw people's language is known as Mi'kma'ki (MEEG-MA-GEE).
- The Mi'kmaq people have shared their land in peace. A long time ago when people from other countries first came here, they signed agreements called treaties that promised to always live in peace and friendship. Today all Nova Scotians agree to keep this promise and continue to live here in peace and friendship.
- At our school we respect the Mi'kmaq people and are proud of how they took care of this land and work to make sure we keep taking care of the land for all of us
- We also want to show we are thankful for the way the Mi'kmaq people welcomed us to this land.

We would like to wish a very Happy Birthday to:

Eli in 3D!

Have an “Out of this World” Birthday Eli.

Today's Shout Out:

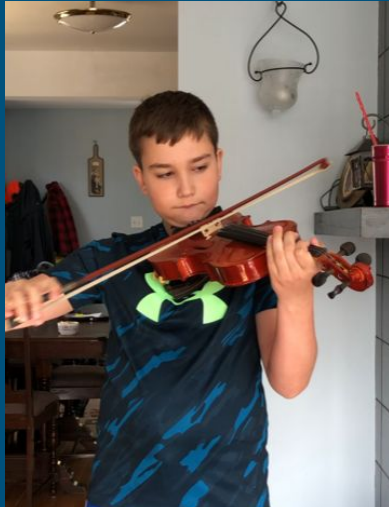

To WMES Families:

Thanks for helping set our students up for success while learning at home.

You are doing a great job - and we are loving hearing from you!

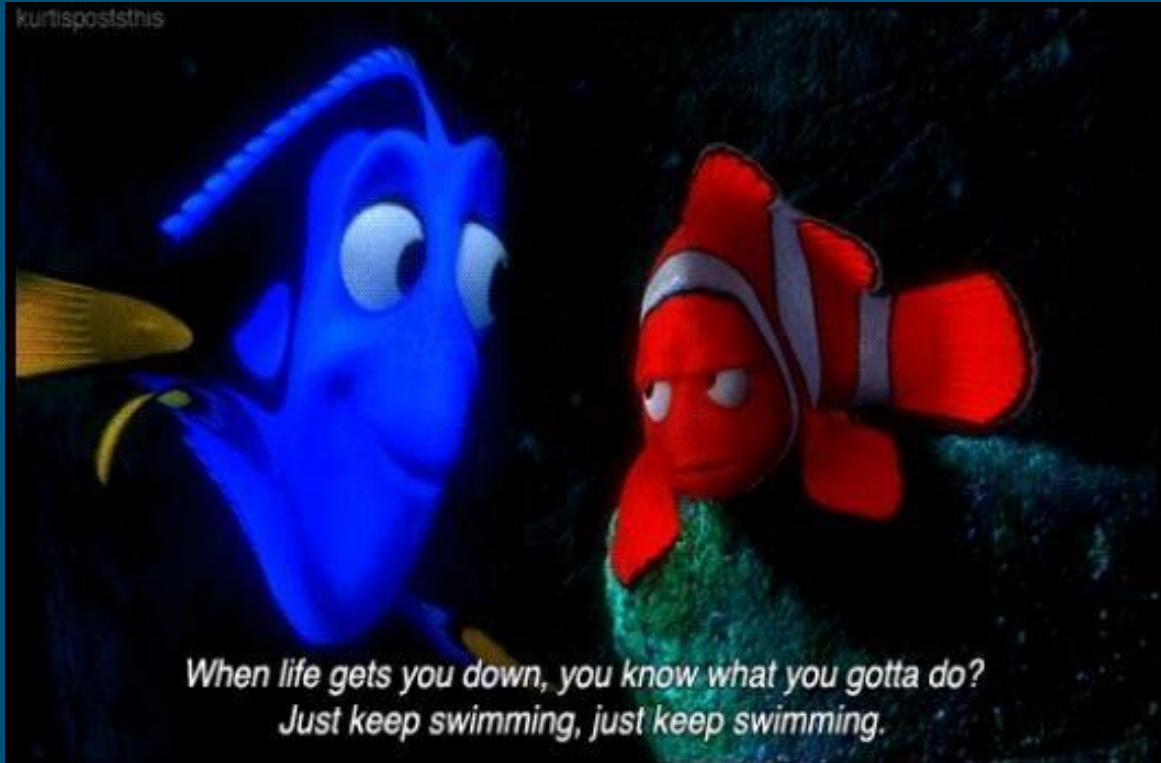

We love hearing all the ways you are being creative at home! Keep sharing!

Click on the photo for a special performance

Quote of the Day:

Have a great day WMES!

